guidance for church leaders to develop their own maps and chart new paths toward stronger more vibrant and more missional congregations in the burgeoning missional church movement churches are seeking to become less focused on programs for members and more oriented toward outreach to people who are not already in church this fundamental shift in what a congregation is and does and thinks is challenging for leaders and congregants using the metaphor of map making the book explains the perspective and skills needed to lead congregations and denominations in a time of radical change over unfamiliar terrain as churches change their focus from internal to external offers a clear guide for leaders wanting to transition to a missional church model written by alan roxburgh a prominent expert and practitioner in the missional movement guides leaders seeking to create new maps for leadership and church organization and focus a volume in the popular leadership network series this book is written to be accessible to all christian congregational styles and denominations mainline christianity in the west is dying addiction to hierarchical and bureaucratic power is killing it a management god and a mission god have usurped the way of christ in the midst of decline the missional movement is attempting to reboot the church its goal is to remake a new christian west through mission leadership mapping and planning yet it is trapped in the language and methods of modernity its final solution is a polarizing vision of cultural domination by one social group the christians the way of life and truth has been forgotten christ is not a conquering king a written word or an absolute idea but a divine human being social wholeness can only be realized through a rediscovery of conversation reconciliation and empowerment these reflect christ s practices of eternal dialogue and reciprocal giving in small communities through this mutual way of life people of all faiths and none can discover deep within themselves our unknown god a gentle voice is whispering in the heart of all humanity i am the way too often the solution sought by many struggling churches is to make the homerun hire to find the charismatic leader who will take them to the promised land of growth and vibrant ministry while this strategy occasionally pays off it has overwhelmingly failed as seen in the hundreds of churches across the united states that close their doors annually is it possible that there is another way forward for those seeking to lead local congregations into missionally vibrant ministry especially those located in multiethnic urban areas in charismatic leadership and missional change one church s journey from a struggling primarily anglo congregation of less than 100 members to becoming a missionally vibrant multiethnic church of more than 700 attendees with no clear ethnic majority documented the charismatic leadership style that drove this change is discussed and critiqued as well as the adaptive challenges that have arisen in the church because of it an alternative approach interpretive leadership is proposed as a different pathway forward in response to these challenges the result the author suggests will be to empower the diverse everyday people of god to participate in god s mission in exciting and surprising new ways the burgeoning missional church movement is a sign that believers are increasingly feeling the call to impact their communities which is a good thing but says alan j roxburgh these conversations still prioritize church success over mission how can being missional grow my church but to focus on such questions misses the point in missional roxburgh calls christians to reenter their neighborhoods and communities to discover what the spirit is doing there to start with god s mission he then encourages readers to shape their local churches around that mission with inspiring true stories and a solid biblical base missional is a book that will change lives and communities as its message is lived out the mission church literature seems to be dominated by idealized conceptions of the benefits of equipping congregations to participate in local mission work this investigation challenges this idealism by paying critical attention to congregants ordinary theologies that develop in reaction to the communication of missio dei theology to them their voices are absent from the formal literature the study employs rescripting methodology to modify key assumptions made in the formal ecclesiological literature by drawing on insights that come from christians ordinary theological voices the study traces how the introduction of a missio dei theology to a british reformed congregation had a significant impact on them a small team of christian leaders communicated missio dei theology to this church over a period of six years it found that mission changes came at substantial personal cost to the church s members 1 a schism occurred when congregants attempted to remove the leader responsible for these changes from his office as church pastor and a third of congregants left the church because they did not want to embrace the church s new mission identity 2 three divergent groups then emerged two of them wanted different kinds of churches that seemed incompatible 3 two thirds of members supported and participated in the church s mission activities which put strains on some of their families 4 unresolved tensions continued to impact the congregation throughout the whole change process 5 unexpectedly for a reformed church a third group made up of women developed prophetic practices that arose due to the mediation of missio dei theology vitally this thesis challenges the notion that helping churches to become mission focused will make them thrive missio dei by its very nature requires the church to come to terms with the exercise of power both internally and externally as it confronts the world tune in to any newscast or glance at the daily newspaper and it immediately becomes clear that the use and abuse of power is a live issue the more we focus on the twists and turns of current events the more it appears that uncorrupted exercise of power eludes the human race all too often we become uneasily aware that there are powers lying behind the power that any of us wields whether it is in the family the classroom on the shop floor in the boardroom or in churches effective missional leadership involves creative engagement with the powers at work in the world without being debased by them this book sets out to address the issue of the use and misuse of power from biblical theological and practical perspectives the authors bring their theological pastoral missionary and personal experience to their task in order to inform challenge and invite readers into a responsible use of the powers that god has put into the hands of each one of us to achieve his purposes in the world the old structures of the church are broken but what should we do about it some try to keep the structures in place by making small adaptations while others try to dispense with them altogether alan roxburgh calls us to see the underlying narratives that make structures necessary and to experiment with new ways of being the local church in a changing world servantship is essentially about following our lord jesus christ the servant lord and his mission it is a life of discipleship to him patterned after his self emptying humility sacrifice love values and mission servanthship is humbly valuing others more than yourself and looking out for the interests and wellbeing of others servanthship is the cultivation of the same attitude of mind christ jesus had making yourself nothing being a servant humbling yourself and submitting yourself to the will and purposes of the triune god since servanthship is the imitation of christ it involves an unreserved participation in the missio dei the trinitarian mission of god in this pioneering work sixteen servants describe the four movements of radical servanthship servanthship is the movement 1 from leadership to radical servanthship 2 from shallowness to dynamic theological reflection 3 from theories to courageous practices and 4 from forgetfulness to transforming memory servanthship recognizes in word thought and deed that whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant and whoever wants to be first must be your slave just as the son of man did not come to be served but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many

the purpose and aim of this book is to develop an appropriate leadership model for missional churches this implies a positioning of this book within the broader theology of mission and a consensus on the theology of the missio dei originating at the 1952 conference of the international missionary council in willingen germany in this approach to the theology of mission mission is understood as the work of the trinitarian god and the church is privileged to participate in god s mission it is against this background that the growing consensus on missional ecclesiology challenges leadership models developed for a different time and a different kind of church with less or no emphasis on the missional character of the church the aim is to reflect theologically on the role of leadership in the missional church what kind of ideas about power authority and leadership are appropriate for a missional church new missional challenges demand new ideas about missional leadership church organisation and leadership reflects a theological position there is a strong relation between ecclesiology and church organisation the nature of the church provides the framework to understand the character of the church what the church is determines what the church does the church organises what it does and agrees on rules that regulate ministries and organisation issues such as the way the church organises and governs what it does and thus church leadership need to be answered against this background and understanding church polity and organisation as well as leadership must reflect the identity calling life and order of the church this book therefore addresses life in the trinity participation in the missio dei and contours of the missional church as the point of entry to develop leadership insights it contributes towards the development of an appropriate model of leadership for missional churches because although recent developments in the theology of mission comprehensively addressed the area of missional ecclesiology there is a gap in the development of a leadership model based on the concept of authority in the missional church
